

Fiber Drop Clamp For Long Span Applications

CATALOG # SI-0978

The MacLean Fiber Drop Clamp for long-span applications is designed for applications where heavier holding capacity is required. These heavier loads are often encountered with longer span lengths in rural deployments and river or highway crossings.

Application

- Holding strength of 1000lbs
- Designed to support long span lengths most associated with rural deployments or crossing long distances (such as rivers or highways)
- Designed specifically for Corning SST; Contact factory for compatibility and holding strength with alternate fiber types

Features

- Black finish - consistent with existing MacLean drop clamps for use with fiber drop cables
- Open bail configuration - allows for assembly to a closed device such as a thimble eye nut
- Stainless steel material for superior corrosion resistance
